

Being engaged is such a unique and exciting time of you and your fiance's life. You've both decided to take the next step and publicly declare your love for each other. I believe that photographing your engagement should be just as unique and exciting. This is a time for you to express to your loved ones (and everyone else..) what defines you as a couple. What makes your love different from the rest? Are you both in love with all things vintage? Or maybe you both thrive in the modern, industrial scene. Whatever your style, whatever your story, allow JLen Photography to document it for you and your love.
